

CCAT BI-WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

Welcome back everyone! We are excited and ready to kick off this semester with a big bang! The CCAT team can't wait to meet you!

What is CCAT?

Located at the south side of HSU, Campus Center for Appropriate Technology is a student run AS program that focuses on demonstrating sustainable practices in and outside of a living space. We aim to achieve this all while providing a platform for students to share their stories, hands- on skills, and knowledge.

Motivated by the ethic of “education by example” CCAT offers tours, workshops and opportunities for involvement. Everyone is invited, even if you don't attend Humboldt State University.

Founded in 1978, this space was created BY STUDENTS, FOR STUDENTS

A Quick Spiel on Appropriate Technology

Appropriate Technology utilizes local and/or accessible materials to build and create human need while preserving resources. Cultural and spatial considerations are important factors to the success of this method. CCAT is packed with various means to demonstrate this approach. “CCAT uses less than five percent of the energy consumed by the average U.S. house, produces almost no waste, and serves as a national model for appropriate technology.”

Why Care?

The world is changing every day. How can we combat the realities that constrain us from being able to make a difference for the environment?

CCAT can open the door of opportunity for you to make a change!

Volunteer Friday

Every Friday from 10AM- 4PM

Fridays are for enjoying the garden and getting hands on, interactive learning. What inspires you? Could it be the beautiful redwoods? Or perhaps the sound of music? Get inspired at CCAT where on Fridays we have good tunes, good food and the view of the Redwoods all while learning about ways that you can apply sustainable living to your life!

Living at CCAT?

Are you interested in becoming one of the three co-directors who live in the CCAT house and manage an AS program?

CCAT co-directors engage in many activities that will provide them with experience and knowledge on how to run non-profit type organizations. Some of these activities include: interpreting the mission of the program, making fundamental decisions of policy, setting annual goals, writing and executing budgets, supervising staff, volunteers and students, representing the organization within the University and the larger community, and doing the dishes at the end of the day. Strong leadership skills, conflict resolution, good teamwork, intelligent time management, flexibility, a desire to learn, an interest in appropriate technology and dedication are sought.
