

Scholarship Resources for California's Current and Former Foster Youth

Scholarships are money to help students pay for college that don't need to be paid back. They can be awarded from colleges, communities, community-based organizations, churches or businesses.

Scholarships can be awarded based on factors such as financial need, experience in the foster care system, ethnicity, special talents, academic performance, leadership ability, community service, or personal life experiences.

SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION TIPS:

- 1. Start your search early. High school seniors are advised to begin applying at the start of their senior year.
- 2. Ask for help. It's ok to have someone to review your essays and provide feedback.
- 3. Make a budget. Determine how much money you need throughout the school year. Keep in mind costs that may occur during summer when you are not in school. Here is one resource that may be helpful: tinyurl/mrynaue7.
- 4. Stay organized. Keep a log of all the scholarships you apply to. A document might include the name of the scholarship, website, award amount, deadline to apply, the date you applied and the status of your application (pending, received and not-awarded).
- 5. Create a general essay. Many scholarships require essays. Write a general essay that you can edit and adjust to fit the requirements of each scholarship that you apply to. A typical essay might talk about why you would like to attend college, a challenge you have experienced and overcome and your future educational and career goals.
- 6. Be honest, but only share what feels comfortable. There are many scholarship opportunities available to students. Find ones that are in line with your goals and experiences. Only disclose elements of your experience in foster care that you feel comfortable sharing.
- 7. Be patient and don't give up. Applying to scholarships can be a lot of work and may take a long time before you get a response. Don't give up or be discouraged. Keep trying! Even small awards add up. Remember that receiving a scholarship is not a reflection of your worth.
- 8. Review your financial aid award letters carefully. If you receive a private scholarship, a new law in California prohibits colleges and universities from reducing the amount that they are providing to offset the scholarship award (within the maximum that you are allowed to receive, known as Cost of Attendance). Make sure to review your financial aid letter before and after reporting any scholarships and discuss with the financial aid office if you think other forms of aid have been reduced as a result of reporting a scholarship. This applies only to students receiving the Pell Grant or aid through the CADAA.
- 9. Avoid scams. You shouldn't have to pay to receive or apply for a scholarship. Avoid common scams such as these:
 - Fees – “Buy now or miss this opportunity.” Don't give in to pressure tactics. You shouldn't have to pay to search or apply for scholarships.
 - Scholarship Guarantee – “We guarantee you'll get aid.” A company could claim it fulfilled its promise if you were offered student loans or a $200 scholarship. Is that worth a fee of $1,000 or more?
 - Credit card or bank account information needed – “I've got aid for you; give me your credit card or bank account number.” Never give out a credit card or bank account number unless you know the organization you are giving it to is legitimate. You could be putting yourself at risk of identity theft. Never provide your social security number.
 - Unsolicited scholarships – “You've been selected.” If you are called to receive an award for which you never applied, be careful, it's likely a scam.
 - Unsecure websites – Check all websites in your browser and avoid websites that are not secure.

In addition to applying for private scholarships, remember these three key steps to explore other financial aid resources:

1. Complete either a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at fafsa.gov or CA Dream Act Application (CADAA) at dream.csac.ca.gov. There are many financial aid resources through the state and federal government. Some of this financial aid is even for students who have experience in the foster care system! To learn more, please visit jbay.org/resources/financial-aid-guide/.
2. Contact the financial aid office at the college you plan to attend to explore any institutional or local scholarships that may be offered.
3. Contact your local Independent Living Program (ILP) (also known as Independent Living Services Program (ILSP)) to learn about any additional funding you may be eligible for.
