

EcoSeries Spring 2024 Schedule

Thursdays at 4:00 PM
WDFS 258

Presented by the Wildlife Graduate Student Society (WiGSS) and the Cal Poly Humboldt Wildlife Department

February
08

Brian Hudgens, Institute for Wildlife Studies

Predicting species vulnerability to climate change.

In-person

February
22

Becca Carniello & Jon Ewayk, NDOW

Black bear conservation and management in the silver state.

In-person

March
07

Greta Wengert, Integral Ecology Research Center

The role of the non-profit organization in conservation science: some local case studies.

In-person

March
21

Scott Yaeger

There and back again: A Humboldt alum's journey.

In-person

April
04

Yvonne Verkuil, Lowland Ecology Network

Ruffs: the ephemeral shorebird.

In-person

April
18

Kimberly Craighead, Kaminando

Path of the jaguar: study and conservation of the feline guild in Panama.

Virtual

May 02

Rachael Orben, Hatfield Marine Science Center, OSU

Multiple applications of biologging: following seabirds for conservation science and ocean observing.

In-person

Use QR code for zoom meeting link
Meeting ID: 833 2459 1192
Passcode: WildTalk

Email WiGSS to be added to the EcoSeries email list: wigss@humboldt.edu
See recorded EcoSeries talks at wigss.humboldt.edu/ecoseries